CHRISTIANITY, CULTURE AND POLITICS

CHRISTIANITY IN THE PUBLIC SQUARE

Presented by
Rev Darren Middleton

In our post-Christian culture, Christianity is not only implausible but unconscionable for many. The public square can be an intimidating place for God's people and can lead to a stance of uncertainty or fear. This short course explains the differing views on cultural posture as well as understanding culture. We will also take the opportunity to discuss how we might navigate politics and cultural issues for God's glory and the common good.

SESSIONS

1. The relationship of Christianity to culture
2. Understanding culture to engage it well
3. Justice, righteousness and politics
